SUPERVISORY PATENT EXAMINER

Continuation of 10. Other (including any explanation in support of the above items): In compliance with 37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(v), the brief is required to include a concise explanation of the subject matter defined in each of the independent claims involved in the appeal, which must refer to the specification by page and line number, and to the drawings, if any, by reference characters. The brief fails to satisfy this requirement because the appellant has failed to concisely explain for each independent claim where in the specification and drawings is the positively claimed limitation: "configuration plug-in and configuration data each including user-specified information". For example, appellant has failed to concisely explain for independent claim 1, a method claim, where in the specification by page and line number the claimed limitation of a "configuration plug-in and configuration data each including user-specified information". Further, appellant has failed to concisely explain for independent claims 8 and 21, product claims, where in the specification by page and line number the claimed limitation of a "configuration plug-in and configuration data each including user-specified information". Even further, appellant has failed to concisely explain for independent claim 15, an apparatus claim, where in the specification by page and line number the claimed limitation of "memory", "processing circuitry" and "configuration data including user-specified information". Appellants' arguments rely heavily on this positively recited limitations and therefore the limitation should be explained further because the summary will enable the board to more quickly determine where the claimed subject matter is described in the application.
